Fourteen More Reasons

August 2011

Last fall there was another horrific auto crash involving a 15-passenger van – notorious for this type of tragedy. A risk management colleague, Charlie Cox of Aldridge & Cox (<http://www.aldrichandcox.com>), wrote a compelling story about the problems and offered several no-nonsense solutions. He generously offered a link to his article.

His recommendations are applicable to many auto situations. Auto accidents are the cause of over 40% of workplace deaths in the US today. Be pro-active with vehicle maintenance and driver training before it is too late.

Fourteen More Reasons

“This month, another tragic accident occurred involving a 15-passenger van. On September 18, six people were killed and eight were injured in a roll-over accident on the New York State Thruway near Woodbury, NY. Initial reports indicate the accident was a result of a rear tire blowout that caused the van to careen out of control.” [read more]
